This student did an awesome job presenting this presentation.

The Zoom basic sessions enlightened the learners about the fundamentals of Zoom. "The Zoom basic session targets freshman and new users of the platform to assist them with familiarizing themselves with its use" (Dai Richardson). It aligned with several aspects that would enable individuals to comprehend the utilization of Zoom and its critical features and dynamics. The learners would be excited to learn about the user-friendly interface of Zoom. It creates the impression that it is straightforward to use Zoom meetings. The audience is also excited to realize that this is a critical platform for learning since it allows them to engage in discussion conveniently and promptly. "virtual experience" (Dai Richardson).

The significance of this workshop is that it will enable learners to gain knowledge and skills on how to utilize Zoom more effectively. It has a considerable impact on the students. "It allows them to know how to utilize Zoom in different ways, such as improving navigation, enhancing meeting participation, and effective collaboration" (Dai Richardson). "It empowers freshmen and new Zoom users to recognize how to troubleshoot and maintain security during Zoom meetings and improve their virtual experience" (Dai Richardson).

These sessions have helped students use all the academic applications at the University of Tampa more effectively. "The ITS ADLC will continue to provide recurring sessions on all academic applications utilized here at the University of Tampa from basic to an advanced level" (Dai Richardson). It will assist learners in developing fundamental to advanced knowledge about using Zoom and other academic applications that are essential in enhancing their learning or education journey. The significance of hosting such events is to guarantee that the learners, particularly those new to the educational application utilized at the university, are exposed to critical fundamentals that enable them to understand how the applications are used. It builds their confidence in using the various academic applications at their disposal. It ensures that the learners take full advantage of available technological tools to enhance their learning process and experience. The sessions offer critical insights that allow the learners to build their knowledge about elements that facilitate or aid their learning.

Training sessions are essential for new students and users to get used to the school's learning environment. They help students learn how to use the resources available to them for better success. For example, these sessions teach new students and Zoom users how teachers communicate information through this platform. It also enables them to understand how to utilize this platform to collaborate with other learners. It also lets them understand how to initiate a Zoom meeting and customize settings to meet specific needs. The numerous advantages of this session to learners underpin the essence and importance of hosting such events occasionally.
